What is a Campmaster?

The Campmaster Corps is a group of men, women, and youth who act as volunteer members of camp staff on weekends throughout the year. Campmasters operate program areas such as the rifle range, shotgun range, archery, camp store, sports areas, camp administration, and camp maintenance. Many people can be utilized immediately in some of our camp program areas. Other program areas require training which is provided by Schoepe Scout Reservation periodically throughout the year.

What can the Campmaster Corps offer you?

If you enjoy the outdoors, find fulfillment in working with youth, and don't mind a little hard work, Schoepe Scout Reservation Campmasters may be for you. After full days of working in the camp program, the Campmasters enjoy good fellowship and the common desire to work as a team to improve and expand the camp program.

How can you become a Campmaster?

On this flyer is an application to become a Schoepe Scout Reservation Campmaster. When you have completed the application and mailed it to the address shown, the Head Campmaster will review your qualifications and pursue a place for you in the program.

Campmasters and their families are housed and fed for free, in return for offering program. Four weekends a year are requested. You choose the weekends you work.
